What is your name? (activity credit)	Avery Edson
Are you ready with these items?	Your prototype (showing the first screen)
Please enter the starting time	4:23:00 PM
(question to the reviewers) What do you see?	library website, menu is striking (first thing eye looks at - pop of color), titles for menu have to think what is under each one
(question to the reviewers) What do you think that web/app is about?	library site
(question to the reviewers) What do you think you can do with this web/app?	look up a book, search hours, apply for a card,
(question to the reviewers) Any other comments?	aesthetic thing -- left alignment might be better, overall comment -- simplicity

(question to the reviewers) Do you think the users can understand what this screen(feedback) is about?	yes
(question to the reviewers) Do you think the users can recognize this (interaction point/ information)?	yes
(question to the reviewers) Do you think the users can feel that the progress is being made toward what they want to achieve?	yes
(question to the reviewers) Do you think the users would know what to do the next step?	yes
(question to the reviewers) Is there anything inconsistent, missing, or confusing?	no
(question to the reviewers) Any other comments?	make the reserve a study room button more visible, change interaction points with tabs